Coaching Profile

Blaze Konkol
Hogan Coaching Network

Background

Blaze helps professionals move themselves, their teams, and organizations forward through coaching, facilitation, and consulting. He combines his experience in management and psychology to help leaders clarify their intentions and adjust their approaches to effectively hold challenging and constructive conversations.

With more than 20 years of experience working as a leader for major corporations and higher education institutions, including Deloitte and The University of Chicago Booth School of Business, Blaze understands the challenges leaders face when driving change and performance. He works with professionals at pivotal career milestones – often in the midst of career transition - whether vying for a promotion, on-boarding to new stretch roles, or determining when to leverage strengths and mitigate weaknesses. Blaze invests in understanding how his clients' personalities and backgrounds influence their thought process and uses those insights to help them change their perspectives and approach.
