

Rebecca Feder

Coaching Profile

Rebecca Feder
Hogan Coaching Network

Background

Rebecca has coached hundreds of executives and teams, helping them understand how motivation and different management styles can positively impact performance. Her experience includes consulting and in-house HR, plus operations and business development line management positions. She has worked across many industries including pharmaceutical, financial, media, industrial, supply chain, higher ed and non-profit.

Rebecca started her career in supply chain management, and returned to school to earn an MBA in strategy and finance before taking a management consultant role. Rebecca then worked as an internal consultant and business development manager, and spent nearly 15 years holding in-house roles as a senior HR Business Partner and Talent Management Lead leading HR for a $3.5B portfolio of global product businesses.

In 2017, Rebecca returned to consulting and now enjoys the opportunity to help clients across companies and industries through assessment, coaching and consulting work.
