

Tara Kimbrell Cole

Coaching Profile

Tara Kimbrell Cole, MA
Hogan Coaching Network

Background

Tara Kimbrell Cole is an executive leadership coach with 20 years of experience facilitating the development of senior leaders and C-suite executives across the world's largest organizations. Her deep experience in cross-cultural leadership and her ability to work with executives in dynamically complex environments enables her to facilitate their leadership development to the maximum of their potential.

For the past 10 years, Tara has partnered with Hogan Assessments, debriefing and coaching leaders through assessment and development. Her extensive coaching experience across Asia, the Middle East, Europe, and Africa—combined with her international leadership experience in business—gives her proven credibility with multinational executives facing dynamically complex challenges. Tara also has experience across a wide range of industries, including banking, technology, healthcare, education, and professional services.

Tara serves on the board of the Global Association of Society for Organizational Learning Communities (Global SoL), reflecting her commitment to systems thinking and organizational learning. Since 2007, she has been an approved consultant by the Council of Trustees of Founding SoL, chaired by the renowned systems thinker Peter M. Senge, PhD.
